Readings for this weekend

Genesis 14:18-20 Melchizedek brought bread and wine

1Cor 11:23-26 Every time you eat this bread and drink this cup, you are proclaiming the death of the Lord

Luke 9:11-17 They all ate and were filled.

Reflection

Paul's account of the Lord's Supper has much in common with that of Matthew, Mark and Luke, but with one notable difference.

The Gospel writers present the supper as a key even in the life and mission of Jesus heralding his passion and death. For his part, Paul is concerned with how the meal is celebrated by the Corinthian community.

Instead of being an occasion of unity and solidarity, it foments division between rich and poor. The well-to-do indulge themselves while the poor go hungry.

Paul reminds them bluntly: their table fellowship must manifest the selfless love embodied in Jesus' saving death. Serving each other in community fires our desire to follow Jesus and feed the hungry of the world.

This week's prayer focus, for the wealthy and well-fed: that they will share their resources freely to ease the global food crisis.

Today's Gospel in a Nutshell

Melchizedek emerges from the mist of ancient time, and offers bread and wine.

Jesus multiplies the loaves and fish, and many are filled.

This largesse of Jesus tells us that he will give us all that we need, in abundance. Our part is to give him what we have with a generous heart.

The Eucharist we share today is a pledge that Jesus lives within us always.

(7am Mass)

Entrance antiphon: The Lord fed his people with the finest wheat and honey; their hunger was satisfied.

Response to the psalm: You are a priest for ever, in the line of Melchizedek.

Gospel acclamation:

Alleluia, alleluia! I am the living bread from heaven, says the Lord;
whoever eats this bread will live for ever. Alleluia!
